

We are seeking $25,000 in funding for the project. Recently, a generous donor came forward with $5,000 to establish a blacksmith forge as part of the classroom project – but we must build the classroom to make use of this generous gift. We’re asking you to join with us and help to financially support this important addition to the Eric Sloane Museum. Your donation will help to enhance the visitation experience at the museum, provide much sought-after, hands-on instruction in early American crafts, trades, and industries, and position the Eric Sloane Museum on a path toward being the center for hands-on learning of early American crafts, trades, and industries. Please send your donation today – in any amount you can – to the address below, or via our secure website: www.friendsoftheericsloane.org:
